

A heatmap visualization of the intrinsic similarity matrix for 15 samples. The color scale ranges from dark blue (low similarity) to yellow (high similarity). The diagonal elements are dark blue, indicating zero self-similarity. The matrix shows a block-like structure with high similarity (yellow) within groups and lower similarity (blue/green) between groups. The label 'intrinsic' is located at the bottom left of the plot area.

0                      2                      4                      6                      8                      10                      12
Global Bin Number